> Appropriation Bills. The appropriation bills thus far passed tion purposes. by the house are within the estimated revenues of the state for the coming year; not as much, perhaps, as they fare bill out for discussion. Sixty-mile ought to be, but still within by a handsome margin. The deficiency bill this year is the largest for years-over $199,-900. The canals get about half of the can fare only to 21-2 cents instead of 2 cents. This bill does not stand very total, and over half of their deficiencies are unauthorized by the emergency board. Not quite half of the total defie ciency bill was unauthorized by the board, but besides the $45,000 in the canals there is a single item of $20,000 for armory rents, which was really an-thorized by law: one other large item this year. The 2-cent mile bill was his thorized by law; one other large item was nearly $9,000 for compensation to the tax commission that worked last fall and made its report to the governor and general assembly two months ago. This makes the total expenses and compensation of the commission about $10,700. and the legislature has been in session for 12 weeks and has never yet enacted a single tax law. There have been 33 tax commissions appointed in different states in the past few years, and never yet has a legislature enacted a single law recom-

Woman's suffrage in school matters "has came and went" again. Once more the women of the state are refused admission to the polling places of the Australian ballot booths. The battle, as usual, was a field day, equal in oratory and interest to the similar occasions of last year and the year before. The orators were all on the side of the ladies, but the votes weren't numerous enough, lacking seven of the necessary number. Possibly with every member present the bill might scrape through, for more of these present were for the bill than there were against it, the vote standing against it. Cuyahoga and Hamilton, the large counties, were opposed to each other, the former for and the latter against. Toledo's three votes were aye as against lontgomery's three which were no. ranklin county went two to one for the bill, Columbiana and Starke's two votes each were for the bill, Ashtabula, Medina, Summit, Loraine and Mahoning, all on the western reserve, where all great reforms are supposed to have the greatest chance to live, were all against the bill. Three of the strongest speeches for the bill were made by Democrats; the most violent speeches against the bill came from three Republicans. Two of them were a disgrace to the Ohio legislature. The enemies of the bill moved a reconsideration and succeeded in voting it bers are attempting to escape. Sidetracked Bills. The medical bill still hangs to a peg in two weeks with one week for conference the committee, though the doctors claim would bring adjournment as a possibility that they have compromised enough so about May 1. It is a practical impossi-bility before that day, and it would be nothing discreditable if the date ran as late as May 10. It all depends with the amount of time put upon the matter by the senate. Two weeks ought to be long the senate. Two weeks ought to be long the buttlet to the senate to be long to the senate to the senat enough, but that august body usually takes has the local option bill stowed away raise the Dow tax to $500. The same committee also has in its grasp the bill to raise the tax levy for state construc-

The senate has had the 2-cent railroad railroads were exempted from the pro-visions of the bill. Several other amendments were attempted, but were voted down, the principal one of which was to high in the estimation of either the house or senate, as it was introduced by a senator who had his pass taken up by a railmead in the eastern part of the state on the ground that he rode on his last year's pass long after it had expired. He was compelled to pay for the rides he next move, when the story of his escapade came out to the gaze of the world. Penitentiary-Made Goods.

The bill to repeal the penitentiarymade goods branding law has passed the senate and will probably share the same fate in the house. At present there are nearly 2,050 convicts in the penitentiary. This is 180 more than the highest day on record previous to last fall's increase. There are nearly 400 idle men in the prison. When present contracts have expired they will not be renewed again under the present law, because the goods could not be sold with brands and marks upon them. This means a loss of over $100,000 next year—quite an item for the workingmen of this state to help make keep men in idleness. Another law that keeps men in idleness is the Llewellyn law, that prohibits the employment in any industry of more than 10 per cent of the number employed in that industry in the state. The penitentiary managers had a chance to contract with a man to put in a trunk and satche factory, but under this law they could only let him have comparatively few men, about one-fifth of what was need so the plant was not put in. But that way men will have to be kept in idleness by the taxpayers of Ohio, though they might otherwise be profitably em-
